GERMANY AT THE VATICAN.

Impressive Ceremonies Attending the Emperor's Visit to His Holiness,

ROME. April 23.-Early this morning the streets leading from the Quirinal to the Prussian legation were filled with persons anxious to see the Emperor of Germany on his way to luncheon with Herr von Buelow and the high dignitaries of the Vatican. Shortly after noon the Emperor left the Quirinal. He rode in the Italian court carriage, and responded repeatedly with bows and smiles to the continuous cheering which accompanied his progress. The Emperor alighted before the legation at 12:30 o'clock. Herr von Buelow, Prussian Minister at the Vatican, received him at the entrance, and presented Cardinals Ledochowsky and Mocenni and Mgrs. Segua and Demontel. Covers were laid for sixteen. On the Emperor's left hand sat Cardinal Ledochowsky, Freiherr Marschall Von Bieberstein, German Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Prince of Pless and Baron Stumm; on his right, Cardinal Moconni, Major Von Moltke and General Von Hannke, Herr Von Buelow and the rest of the guests sat opposite the Emperor. During the luncheon the Emperor was exceptionally cheerful. At 2 o'clock Empress Augusta Victoria arrived at the legation. The presentations occupied half an hour and immediately after them the Emperor. Empress, their suites and Herr Von Buelow proceeded in the Prussian court carriages to the Vatican. Italian troops were drawn up in line on each side of every street through which the imperial party passed, and behind the soldiers were packed cheering thousands of Italian citizens. The Vatican was filled with high dignitaries of the church and representatives of the Catholic nobility of Italy. Cardinal Mocenni, who had left the Prossian legation in advance of the imperial party, had reached the Vatican at 2:30, and from then until 2:55, when the Emperor and Empress arrived, had been in consultation with the Pope. Their Majes-Mgr. Della Volpe, major domo, Prince Ruspoli and Count Alborghetti, who were waiting in the court, were presented by Herr Von Buelow, and showed the way to the palace on the right, where the imperial couple was received in the Clementine Hall by Mgr. Sambeeth, prefect of ceremonies, Mgr. Azevedo, grand chamberlain, and other members of the papal court. The Emperor was in hussar uniform, and during the short panse in the first ball the Swiss guards paid him military honors. At the door of the Feliow Chamber their Majesties were met by the Pope. He led them to their chairs, which had been placed near the middle of the room, sat down with them and conversed with both for fifteen minutes. The Empress then rose. The l'ope summoned the major domo, who accomsented to her Commander Friconti and the museum officials. Under their guidance she proceeded to the Ducal hall, the Sistine chapel and the other rooms in which the art treasures of the Vatican are shown. Meantime, the Emperor remained in conversation with the Pope, while Fretherr Marschal Bieberstein was in attendance in the ante chamber. The interview lasted lifty-eight minutes after the departure of the Empress. The Pope was more affable than usual, while the Emperor, although amnable, seemed to be somewhat preoccupied and nervous.

At the end of the interview the Emperor's suite was presented to the Pope. Upon leaving the Emperor was accompained by the l'ope, contrary to the etiquette of the Vatican, through the ante-chamber to the throne room. As they parted, the Emperor made a movement as if to kiss the Pope's hand. The Pope quietly withdrew his hand, then grasped the Emperor's and shook it cordially three times. The Emperor joined the Empress and visited with her St. Peter's and the treasury. The departure of the imperial party from the Vatican at 4:40 o'clock was accompanied by a repetition of the ceremonial with which they were received. This evening the Emperor and Empress worshiped in the chapel of the German embassy.

On Saturday evening a bomb was exploded in front of a fireman's guard room near the Capitol. Several windows were shattered and the pedestal of a column of the Capitol was damaged. No arrests were

The choir, assisted by singers from other churches, gave a magnificent rendition of the work. All the members of the United States legation and consulate in Rome, the majority of the American restnents and scores of distinguished Italians were present. Verdi, the most notable anditor, hastened to congratulate Dr. Dossert as soon as the mass was concluded. This evening Dr. Dossert dined with Meluzzi, the director of St. Peter's choir. This is the first time that an American composer has been thus honored in Rome.

Avoided Politics. LONDON, April 23 .- The Rome correspondent of the Chronicle and Morning Post agree in the statement that the Pope and Emperor William avoided political matters in their conversation at the Vatican. According to these correspondents the conversation turned on general topics and especially on the situation of the church in Europe. The Emperor is said to have expressed pleasure at the Pope's attitude toward socialism and the revolutiopary tendencies of the day, and is said to have impressed the Pope far more favorably than he did during his stay in

by Fire at Huit Yesterd .v. LONDON, April 23. - Ten acres of timber at the Victoria dock, in Hull, are sulaze. The loss will be more than £100,000. The fire is supposed to have been started by striking dockers. The fire is extending from the timber yard and threatens to destroy the warehouse near by. The Citadel Hotel has been burned. All the telegraph wires in the district are down and the railway irons have been melted. Marines and sailors from the two gunboats anchored in the roads are helping the firemen. The timber in which the fire was set is owned by the Wade company, who employ nonunion men.

Late to-night it was learned that the total value of the timber and other proporty now in danger is £1,000,000. Three other fires were started by incendiaries in Hull this evening. All were discovered before they got headway and were extin-

When the police reinforcements errived more than than two thousand men had gathered, armed with stones, clubs and a few revolvers. The police grew their batons, and, clubbing right and left, divided the mob so that the three officers, with their prisoner, could proceed to the station. After the drunken striker had been removed the rioters charged the police re-peatedly. They were forced back by hand-to-hand fighting, were divided and were driven into the side more strikers were attracted. The wounded men on both sides were carried away, and the strikers obtained a new supply of pokers, boat hooks, cudgels and split planks. The police forced the men back gradually into the immediate neighborbood of the docks. The whole district was in an uproar. The struggle was carried into every street and a leyway. Dockers, who had gone to bed burried half dressed to join in the fight. Windows were smashed and doors battered down. At the dry-pool dock the mob tried to storm the steamer Right. Fifty police defended it for forty minutes, and then with the aid of thirty more put the rioters to flight. The fighting lasted well into this morning. Only six strikers were arrested.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Orangemen in Belfast Attack a Catholic Tavern and Raise Cain Generally. LONDON, April 23.-Orange riots broke out in Belfast last night, and continued until late this morning. The fighting was especially severe in the notorious Shankhill district. At midnight an Orange mob put out the street lights, and shortly afterward attacked a tavern kept by a Roman Catholic named Connelly. They smashed in windows and doors, looted the store rooms and honor vanit, drove out Connelly and endeavored to burn down the building. The police were out in force before they could get the fire well started, drove the mob off and extinguished the flames. The rioters tried to invade the Catholic quarter, where the Nationalists were celebrating the second reading of the home-rule bill by burning tar barrels. A strong line of police held them back. A crowd of Nationalists gathered on the other side of the line and the two parties stoned each other. The conflict became so hot eventually that the police were obliged to strike out on the two mobs by repeated charges. Shakspeare's Birthday Celebrated. LONDON, April 23.-The anniversary of Shakspeare's birthday was celebrated today at Stratford-on-Avon. The grammar school in which the exercises were held was decorated with flowers, flags and Shakspeare's portrait. The masters and pupils marched to Shakspeare's tomb in the evening and covered it with flowers. The Mayor of the town delivered a memorial address. At its close the audience remained perfectly silent for ten minutes and then Found so Internal Machine, LONDON, April 28.-An infernal machine, designed apparently to be operated by electricity, was found to-day in the garden of a house in Tottenham Court road. A foreign couple who formerly lived in the house behaved so suspiciously that they were watched by the police. Recently the couple disappeared. It is supposed that they were the owners of the machine.

Crowds Go to See Blamarck. HAMBURG, April 23,-Thousands of persons took advantage of the delightful weather to-day to make excursions to Friedrichsruhe. LATEST FROM HONOLULU.

Supposed Wholesale Attempt to Poison the Troops Shrouded in Mystery

San Francisco, April 23,-The barkentine Irmgande arrived from Honolula tonight, bringing advices up to April 12. The leading event in the last letter was the supposed wholesale attempt to polson the soldiers and members of the national guard. On the night of April 11 thirty soldiers at the barracks were taken with violent vomiting spells. Surgeon Rodgers was hastily summoned, and found that the men showed symptoms of irritant poisoning. The men were so distressed as to be obliged to take to their cots. In the meantime the report came from the government building, where Company A, National Guard, is stationed, to the effect that a number of men were suffering with severe fits of vomiting. Dr. Day was summoned and relieved the men The men did not besitate to accuse some one in the employ of the Royalists of an attempt at poisoning. Five Chinamen are employed in the kitchen at the Government Building, but no suspicion is attached to them. About sixty men, thirty at the barracks and thirty in Company A, National Guards, were rendered untit for duty, but most of them soon recovered, and none are likely to suffer permanently or fatally. Much mystery surrounds the affair, and it has caused a great sensation. The Royalits indignantly deay the existence of a plot. The fintter of excitement caused by the return of Paul Neuman and Prince David, envoys of the Queen to Washington, has passed away and has left nothing apparent as the substantial result of their mission. Three times in as many days the report has been circulated that the day and hour has been fixed for the restoration of the Queen, but up to the present writing the throne lacks an occupant, as it has since the event-

HARD WORK TO GET "BOOZE."

Crusade Started in Charleston Against th Appointment of "Public Dispensers."

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 23.-A new move in the fight against the enforcement of the dispensary liquor law, which is to go into effect July 1, has been developed here. A meeting was held by a number of leading merchants and property holders to consider the situation, the counsel employed by the liquor dealers having advised that it would be useless to attempt to resist the law. Representatives of nearly every society in the city were present, and it was decided to send a circular to the voters of the city, requesting them not to sign the petition of any person applying for the office of State Dispenser of Liquors. Under the law a majority of the freehold voters of a city must sign the application of any one applying to be appointed a dispenser, and the applicant must be a testotaler. In Charleston there are, out of a population of 65,000, exactly 1.519 freehold voters; so 760 of these must sign a petition in order to have a State barroom opened here.

QUARRELING OVER SPOILS

Big Local Politicians Seem to Have Played Double with Crawley.

Pushing John Feley While Pretending to Be Crawley's Friends-Aspirations of Taggart, Wilson and Fanning.

The settlement of the contest for the first deputyship under United States Marshal Hawkins awaits the recovery of the Marshal, who is sick at his home at Sullivan. In the meantime each of the aspirants is looking for a weak place in his rival's armor, and is ready to deal a blow if opportunity offers. The result of the contest is supposed to have some bearing on the plans and interests of some other gentlemen who have laid out certain lines for the future. One of the first men to announce himself for the first deputyship under Marshal Hawkins was Charles E. Crawley, of Sullivan, a young Democrat of wide acquaint suce and great popularity. It was given out that Mr. Crawley had the support of Chairman Taggart, of the State committee, and being a close personal friend of the new Marshal, it was supposed that Mr. Crawley would be appointed. The general harmony of the situation was smashed when John Foley, president of the Gray Club, announced his determination to measure strength with Crawley. His candidacy immediately assumed formidable proportions. Foley had been to Washington, but failing to secure anything which he deemed proportionate to his deserts he returned to Indianapolis and commenced to tear up the pipes that Mr. Crawley had laid. He was able to enlist powerful influence, and when Crawley returned to his home at Sullivan several days ago he gave it as his belief that he had been undone.

The cause assigned for the sudden and pronounced upward tendency of Foley stock is the influence of State Chairman Taggart and County Clerk John R. Wilson. Mr. Taggart's term as county auditor expires in two years. The prospect to him of life outside of a good fat office is a very dreary one, and he has taken the measure of State Treasurer Gall's shoes with the intention of pulling them on. With Crawley the most prominent man in the field for the deputy marshalship Mr. Taggart saw a chance to gain a point by lending him his influence. Foley howhaving carefully adjusted his scales, discovered that his own prospects would be better promoted with Foley in the United States marshal's office and hence the transfer of his influence from Crawley to Foley. John R. Wilson's indorsement of the claims of Foley is in line with the policy of himself, and Mr. Taggart bitherto to pool their interests. They made their county campaigns together, with results eminently satisfactory. While Mr. Taggart has been looking for an entrance into the State Treasurer's office, Mr. Wilson has become possessed of a desire to inherit the opinion mill in the Attorneyneueral's office and bathe in the golden stream that flows from the delicately adjusted arrangement between the Attorneygeneral and the county clerks and auditors which the late Legislature declined to in-

With Joe Fanning as the logical successor of Oscar Henderson in the Auditor of State's office, and with a State-wide acquaintance and influence, the necessity of combining forces to kill Mr. Fanning off became apparent to Taggart and Wilson, for it was not to be supposed for a minute that the next Democratic State convention would concede three such offices as Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney-general to Indianapolis. The first step, therefore, toward solidifying the Marion county Democracy in their favor was to conciliate the Gray Club and secure its influence by the appointment of its president to a fat office. Mr. Fanning's friends are fully advised of the movement inaugurated to undermine him, and prompt steps were taken to checkmate the movements of the Taggart-Wilson combination. It is semi-athoritatively announced that the appointment of Mr. Foley will be announced as soon as Mr. Hawkins has recovered sufficiently to attend to business, and this information is probably correct. The appointment of Foley will, in effect, be the first move on the political checker board for 1894. The playing of the game will engage all the strategy and finesse of the participants, and furnish innocent recreation for the spectators.

WHY BE SHOT HIM.

William Preeman Explains His Firing Upon a Strange Negro Saturday Night.

William Freeman, the young colored man reported yesterday morning as having shot a man during the progress of a game of craps on Saturday night, was arrested yesterday at his home, No. 10 Willard street. Officer Thorne found the young man and locked him up on the charge of shooting with intent to kill. Freeman vigorously denies that the trouble occurred over a gambling quarrel, and, instead, tells a story that would completely exonerate him, if true, About 10 o'clock Saturday night, he says, he came home and found his sister, Bertha Freeman, aged about seventeen, weeping violently and complaining that a colored man known as "Will" had insulted her. William was in the room, and the giri's brother naturally inquired what his business was. The intruder informed him that it was no concern of his, and backed up his remark by drawing a wicked-looking knife. Freeman ordered him out of the house, but he refused to go and began brandishing the knife. Freeman then drew his revolver and fired, the ball striking in the fleshy part of his antagonist's left leg. The latter ran from the house and has not since been heard of. He was only known to the neighborhood he "Will."

The unknown man was arrested late last night by Sergeants Hyland and Lowe and locked on the charge of assault and battery. He gives the name of William Marshall and denies that he insulted Freeman's sister. He claims that the trouble occurred over a white woman, residing on Willard street, named Lon Johnson. He says he had no knife and made no attempt to assault Freeman.

AMUSEMENTS.

At English's, to-night, local theater-goers will see for the first time the gorgeous production of "Ali Baba," by David Henderson's American Extravaganza Company. This is the production that last summer played at the Chicago Opera House for the period of twenty-three consecutive weeks to large andiences. "Ali Baba" has been on a tour of the country from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and, from all accounts, its career has been a repetition of the success it made in Chicago. Willie Collier, who is one of the best comedians in farce-comedy, will play a return engagement at the Grand, next Friday and Saturday, in the revised "Hoss and Hoss," for which seats will be on sale this morning. The Park Theater will have two attractions this week. Beginning with the matmee to-day, and continuing until Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayne will present Frederic Bryton's stirring drama

"Forgiven," with a capable cast. Following them, for the rest of the week, the Bryant and Richmond company will appear in "Keep it Dark," Sefton & Watson's Comic Opera and Vaudeville Company will begin a week's engagement at the Empire this afternoon. The programme is a lengthy one, including a comedy first part, a funny burlesque, introducing a bevy of pretty women, and also a strong olio. The costumes used by some, as well as the scenery.

TOLD ON HER HUSBAND.

Man Who Robbed Taggart Made a Bad Blunder in Trying to Worst His Wife.

Henry Burteen, a North Mississippi negro, made a miserable blunder last night when he sent for patrolmen Thompson and Milan to come over to his house and quiet his wife. Mrs. Burteen was raising general Cain, but didn't propose to be handicapped, and when the police appeared boldly turned the tables on Henry by charging him with petit larceny. An investigation showed Burteen up in an apparently bad light, for a lot of silver knives and forks were found which to the officers appeared somewhat out of touch with the furnishings of the house. Engraved on the spoons were the initials "T. T.." and Mrs. Burteen coolly stated that the goods had been stolen from the home of Thomas laggart. Burteen was arrested, to the intense satisfaction of his spouse.

Wild Scenes of Vulgar Abandon and Crime on Board an Excursion Steamer.

PITTSBURG, April 23.—The chief of police of this city has been notified by the Wheeling authorities to be prepared for the arrival of the excursion steamer Andes in this city to-morrow morning, as the crowd on the boat was drunk and rioting. The police authorities have detailed a squad of officers to await the landing of the boat. The Andes left Pittsburg last night for atrip to Stenbenville, O., Wheeling and Moundsville, W. Va. She had seven hundred people aboard, comprising the worst element of the two sexes in this city. There were forty barrels of beer and one barrel of whisky on the steamer. By the time the boat reached Wheeling the crowd was very drunk and disorderly and the entire police force was called cut to keep those of the excursionists that got off the boat there within bounds. The band that accompanied the boat left progress at all times and blood flowed as freely as beer. It is reported two men fell off the boat at Stenbenville and were drowned. When the boat reached Wheeling on her way to Monndsville, the scenes on board ressembled a devil's orgie. Women were running around in a baif nude coudition; men and women were occupying staterooms indiscriminately, and the others were fighting or acting in the most disorderly manner imaginable. The boat left Wheeling at 5:15 to-night on her return trip to Pittsburg. Reports from Wheeling say that such scenes of disorder have never been witnessed, and that murder may be committed before the boat reaches this city in the

Although Able to Recognize His Friends His Utterance Is Choked.

NEW YORK, April 23 .- There seems to be little doubt that Edwin Booth is in a very serious condition in spite of the reassuring statements of the physicians. At midnight Mr. Booth was reported to be in the same condition as that in which Dr. Smith found him early in the evening when he visited his patient. He pronounces Mr. Booth somewhat improved. At the Players' Club it is thought that recovery is doubtful. At 11:20 o'clock last night Dr. Ferdinand Smith and Dr. William Starr were called in, and held a consultation on Mr. Booth's condition. The result of their consultation was to the effeet that the tragedian's recovery was scarcely to be hoped for, and they were of the opinion the end would probaply come within forty-eight hours.

An Unwise Proposition. To the Editor of the Indianapons Journal:

Word comes to us that the school authorities require the school children to meet at their respective schoolhouses and march in procession to the Statehouse, and then in procession to the railroad to see the Independence bell, and then again to the schoolhouses to be dismissed. In addition to the fact that this will, in many cases, tuvolve a march of from three to five miles by children unused to such exercises, there is this further objection, it transfers the children from the care of their parents to teachers, who can have no control of them in the streets. Let that order be revoked at once, and let every parent take his children with him and keep them out of danger.

A PARENT.

SHE LOVES ANOTHER WOMAN

Escape of Mrs. W. F. Lewis from Her Father's Charge at the Spencer House.

Her Strange Infatuation for the Wife of a Hotel Clerk at Greenfield Causes a Separation from Her Husband.

The 9 o'clock train from Greenfield last night brought to the city C. E. Miller, of Converse, Ind., and his seventeen-year-old daughter, Mrs. W. F. Lewis. The couple went to the Spencer House to remain over night, and while the father was engaged in registering their names the girl left the hotel, mysteriously. An honr later Mr. Miller was looking for a police officer, frantic with anxiety and humiliation. He is a prominent and wealthy merchant of Converse, but has been unfortunate with his domestic affairs, and related his trouble in a most peculiar story.

Until last December his family consisted of himself, wife and only daughter, a handsome young girl of happy accomplishments. In December the girl was married to W. F. Lewis, a glass-blower by occupation, and the young couple went to Greenheld to reside, Lewis having secured a position with the firm of Hollweg & Roese, of this city, in their branch establishment there. The Lewises boarded at the Union House, the leading hotel of Greenfield, and for several mouths their married life was bliss itself. A month ago the husband complained to his father-in-law that an estrangement had sprung up between himself and wife, but an open rupture did not occur until last week, when the young people separated, Lewis returning to Converse and his wife remaining in Greenfield.

To Mr. Miller the son-in-law told of a peculiar state of affairs. It seemed that his young wife had become peculiarly at-tached to the wife of the clerk of the hotel where they boarded, and to such an extreme did her inscination for the other woman lead that she gradually grew cold and indifferent toward him, and he came to the conclusion that he could live with her no longer. He made no other charges, and Mr. Miller thought that if he could get his daughter away from the strange Greenfield influence an adjustment of difficulties could be reached. Yesterday morning he repaired to Greenfield and asked Mrs. Lewis to accompany him home, and she willingly agreed to the plan. The parting between her and the clerk's wife was brought about with some difficulty, and father and daughter left for this city, intending to go on to Converse this morning. As stated above, they engaged rooms at the Spencer House, and Mr. Miller left his daughter in the parlor while he stepped to he office. As he returned to the elevator he met a friend, a business man of this the party at Steubenville. Fights were in | city, and stopped a moment to shake hands. Returning to the parlor the room was empty and he inquired of the bell boy what had become of Mrs. Lewis, receiving the information that she had left the house, after asking where she would find Louisiana street. The boy also remem-bered that she had stated that she would be back soon. She failed to keep her word and no news from her was forthcoming last night.

Mr. Miller is of the opinion that his daughter and the woman for whom she formed the strange attachment have concocted a plan to meet in this city. Mrs. Lewis is good looking and is wearing a red dress, light wrap and spring hat. She took no baggage with her.

Walnut-Street Improvement To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal:

I see in your paper of this date a partial report of some remarks of mine made before the Board of Public Works of this city yesterday, to which I do not object, but beg the privilege of adding to said report. I had been requested by several persons who had signed a remonstrance against the improvement of Walnut street, as requested by Messrs. Ross, Helwig, Jacobi, Matthews and acted upon by the board. I was given the privilege of speaking on behalf of the remonstrants, and said we were not opposed to necessary and proper improvements, even if it caused loss to some, but that we were not in frvor of requiring persons to make improvements at a sacrifice where they were not necessary to the growth and prosperity of the city; that we regard the proposed improvement to Wainut street as more of a luxury than a necessity, and that its construction would be attended by great hardship to many propertyholders on the street, amongst whom were several widows who would be compelled to sell their homes to meet the expense; that the street was one of the best cross streets in the city, and that at but little rost could be made to last for many years; that the street consisted of two squares divided in the center by Illinois street, and was not greatly traveled. The board did not seem to want to hear much from me. and at the statement from the president that they understood the situation I gave place to Mr. Jacobson, who received the close attention of the board and succeeded in getting a decision in favor of the petitioners who represented 250 feet out of 1,680 feet on both sides, and consisted of four resident property holders and one nonresident property holder, whereas the remonstrance onsisted of tive resident property holder owning 572 feet and five popresident property holders representing 312 feet. We failed to get the names of several property holders who are opposed to the improve-This decision may be legal, but it seems to me unjust, and I fear personal friendships had something to do with it. Certainly in view of the little benefit to the city and the hurt to many of the citizens living on the street, there was no necessity for the decision. D. HAGGARD. Indianapolis, April 22.

Doctors Ever Saw

Worst Case of Scrofula the Completely Cured by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

"When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a scrofulous sore on the middle finger of my left hand, which got so bad that the doctors cut the finger off, and later took off more than half my hand. Then the sore broke out on my arm, came out on my neck and face on both sides, nearly destroying the sight of one eye, also on my right arm. Doctors said it was the Worst Case of Scrofula they ever saw. It was simply awful! Five years ago I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Gradually I found that the sores were beginning to heal. I kept on till I had taken ten bottles, ten dollars! Just think of what a return I got for that investment! A then-and per cent? Yes, many thousand. For the past 4 years I have had no sores. I

Work all the Time. Before, I could do no work. I know not what to say strong enough to express my grat itude to Hood's Sarsaparilla for my perfect cure." GEORGE W. TURNER, Farmer, Gal-way, Saratoga county, N. Y.

HOOD'S PILLS do not weaken, but sid digestion and tone the stomach. Try them. 25c.
